

The Myasthenia Gravis Activities of Daily Living (MG-ADL) scale is used to measure your gMG symptoms.

This scale is a tool that helps you measure the symptoms that most affect your daily living and communicate your symptoms with your doctor.

	0=Normal	1	2	3=Most Severe	0-3
Talking	Normal	Intermittent slurring or nasal speech	Constant slurring or nasal speech, but can be understood	Difficult-to-understand speech
Chewing	Normal	Fatigue with solid food	Fatigue with soft food	Gastric tube
Swallowing	Normal	Rare episode of choking	Frequent choking, necessitating changes in diet	Gastric tube
Breathing	Normal	Shortness of breath with exertion	Shortness of breath at rest	Ventilator dependence
Impairment of ability to brush teeth or comb hair	None	Extra effort, but no rest periods needed	Rest periods needed	Cannot do one of these functions
Impairment of ability to rise from a chair	None	Mild, sometimes uses arms	Moderate, always uses arms	Severe, requires assistance
Double vision	None	Occurs, but not daily	Daily, but not constant	Constant
Eyelid droop	None	Occurs, but not daily	Daily, but not constant	Constant

How to Use: Score each activity from 0 to 3 and add the scores to see your total result.*

Total your MG-ADL score

*Total score ranges from 0-24 and higher scores indicate more impairment.

The MG-ADL scale is designed to help you throughout the entire course of your gMG experience.

Use this table to track your symptoms regularly and help tell your doctor how symptoms are impacting your life. Ask your doctor how often to track your scores.

Share your MG-ADL scores with your doctor

It's important to review your MG-ADL results with your doctor. Here are three reasons why:

Doctor appointments may be brief.

- With a quick glance at your completed MG-ADL worksheet, your doctor can understand how your symptoms are impacting your life.

You know your symptoms best.

- It can be difficult to communicate with your doctor about your symptoms. The MG-ADL scale is a standardized worksheet that helps you show your doctor what you're feeling.

It's important to form a team with your doctor.

- Tracking your symptoms using the MG-ADL scale shows your doctor that you are an active partner in your treatment path.

When to Talk "MG-ADL"

Your doctor will often begin your visit by asking how you've been. This is a great time to bring up your MG-ADL.

Need help starting the conversation? Try using one of these phrases:

- "Since my last appointment, I've been tracking my symptoms with the MG-ADL."
- "I'd like to discuss my MG-ADL scores."
- "I've been using the MG-ADL scale to track how gMG affects me. I want to talk with you about my scores."
